BULLY FOR THIS COUNTRY.

NO matter from what point of view the war situation in Europe is scanned nothing but the most optimistic conclusion is the result. War in Europe cannot under any circumstances injure the United States or draw this nation into line with either of the belligerents for the reason that the American policy has always been to avoid entangling alliances with transoceanic monarchies. This will bear good fruit at the present time and still better fruit in course of a few months if it is found that diplomacy cannot find some way out of the tangle that now threatens the peace of the world. At the outset the effect of war will be to depress values of stocks and other securities for the simple reason that foreign countries will instantly begin to realize on their holdings and their investing subjects will likewise call for gold in lieu of the low-priced securities representing various phases of American industrial life. War means that ready cash can be utilized to greater advantage at home than by being allowed to lie moribund at three or four per cent. The beneficial results must come soon in the shape of hurry orders for equipment and supplies of every character that will keep the factories of the United States busy twenty-four hours a day at high prices. Steel will be one of the first to feel the impulse, then the railroads will share the revival and after this the procession of awakened industry will meet with constant accession. There is no disparaging the fact that the United States is in better financial condition today for a European war than at any previous time in history. The crops are of the prodigious order with scarcely a competitor in sight, since Argentina and Russia both report less than average crops of the chief commodities. When the tide turns and European settlements call for gold we may see the yellow metal sell at a premium. The rebound will be of the spectacular order. Farmers with bumper crops will receive famine prices and their receipts will quickly enter into circulation. The higher prices exacted for produce to all European orders will mean higher prices at home, but the people of this country can stand higher prices if they are rewarded with the full dinner pail and have plenty of money to buy what they want. With factories running overtime the earnings of manufacturing employees would be increased, they would have more spending money and they would be on the alert for investments.

War is to be dreaded under any and all circumstances, but if it comes the United States will be the chief beneficiary as the only nation with a sufficiently diversified resources to meet all requirements for products of the forge, furnace, mine, factory and loom. We have the wool, cotton, iron, copper, steel, silver and gold in the crude state. What more is wanted?

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

ADVOCATES of municipal ownership are invited to read the report of the United States Reclamation Service in charge of the construction of the Lahontan dam and ponder on the conclusions of the engineers in charge. They cannot be accused of any partiality or partisanship in recommending the signing of a contract with a power company for utilizing the waters impounded in the big Carson-Truckee dam above Fallon, and therefore their statements should be accepted as absolute authority.

The Lahontan power plant was constructed by the government for the purpose of furnishing power and lighting facilities while the work of building the dam was in progress. A contract was also made with the town of Fallon for furnishing power to that city and at this time Fallon is the only private consumer of the enterprise.

After advertising for bids the reclamation service recommended the acceptance of the bid of the Canyon Power company of California for a period of ten years. Under the terms of the lease the settlers on the reclamation project will profit greatly in the reduction of their assessments and maintenance amounts as the monthly rental of the power company is paid into the reclamation fund.

The approximate minimum payment by the power company for the plant will total in the neighborhood of between $15,000 and $20,000 annually.

Had the government continued to operate the plant after the completion of the dam, it is estimated by experts that a deficit would have resulted monthly. It is figured that the minimum expense would be in the neighborhood of $12,000 annually, with a possible revenue of not over $1,200 annually, this from the town of Fallon. A deficit of $7,800 would have resulted and this expense would be paid from the reclamation fund. With the lease in effect the settlers will receive a profit by a reduction in their assessments.

"General" Rosalie Jones, the tramping suffragette of New York, announces she is going to turn loose in Nevada. She should join the I. W. W. and other jawsmiths to complete the discordant chorus of unrest.

Eat What Your Palate Craves and Make Your Stomach Like It

In summer you are apt to have the same natural craving for food that you have in cooler weather. Even a healthy stomach needs encouraging at this season—but if you suffer from dyspepsia, eating will become a task instead of a pleasure.

LOUISIANA GETS VALUED HEIRLOOM FROM WASHINGTON

RELIC OF WAR TIMES RECOVERED FROM THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—When the pending bill passes Congress, providing for the return of the ordinance of secession of the state of Louisiana to its native archives, the files of the war department will lose one of their most curious possessions.

No one remembers exactly how the old zinc tube containing the text of the ordinance which voted to leave the union reached the department. The case bears the single legend painted on its cover:

STATE OF LOUISIANA.
Ordinance of Secession.
January 26, 1861.

This is the only one of the ten other similar documents that the government possesses. Different stories exist as to the means by which the relic reached the capital. It is said that General Butler, when he took New Orleans, seized all the official papers he could find and sent them to Washington. It is possible the old zinc tube containing the message came north with other trophies of war.

As far as the record shows, the ordinance first came to light in a drawer of Lieutenant-Colonel Cushing's desk in the adjutant-general's department. It was delivered to Major-General Davis, now retired, in 1865, and from him it went to the secretary of war, who ordered it placed on the file.

The parchment is yellow with age, put in excellent condition and perfectly legible, though some of the signatures are a bit faded. The text is divided into two parts, in English on the left, and French on the right. Antiquarians and students of history have frequently sought permission to copy the quaint old document.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

This evening at the Butler theater will be shown another interesting and up-to-date firewater programme, consisting of Paths Weekly of Current Events from all over the world. SPORTING REVIEW

While Hoppe, the world's champion billiard player, has started practice for his match at English billiards to be played against Melbourne James, the English title holder, James arrived in this country last week and will in all probability proceed to Montreal, where he will compete for the matches which are to include both the English and bank line games.

It is reported that an Australian-owned yacht, manned by an Australian amateur crew, will take part in the Olympic regatta and other European yachting features in 1916. Walter Marks, of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron and Royal Prince Alfred Yacht club, who is the managing spirit of Australian yachting, is greatly interested in the project and will undoubtedly be prominent in the building and manning of the yacht.

According to American athletes competing in various European track meets the American trainers, who accepted positions to coach foreign teams, are not finding the berths as congenial as they expected. Eddie Hjelberg recently resigned as athletic supervisor to the Swedish team. It is alleged that Hjelberg decided to resign because of the lack of discipline among the Swedish club and athletes. Strong influence has been brought to bear by sport leaders to persuade Hjelberg to withdraw his resignation, now lodged with the Swedish Olympic committee. But this will not succeed, it is believed, unless the refractory athletes agree to follow orders.
